Law & Forensics provides e-discovery technology and process consulting services. We guide organizations in the design, integration, and operation of their e-discovery platform, ensuring that the systems work together seamlessly, are defensible during litigation, and are cost effective. Unlike other system integration service providers, Law & Forensics provides an integrated holistic view of e-discovery, offering expert consulting across all aspects of litigation support, including: system integration, methods and procedures, review strategies, managed operations and predictive coding.

WHY LAW & FORENSICS?

As e-discovery moves from an option to a necessity in litigation, our deep domain expertise is based on the principle that “one solution does not fit all” customers. Working constantly with dozens of different e-discovery systems in the private and public sectors allows us the flexibility to work through the entire life cycle of the case. With a team comprised of legal, IT, and statistics experts, we are able to offer highly specialized consulting services.

IS IT NECESSARY?

Success for the customer requires that (1) all of the different e-discovery technologies work individually, and (2) that the entire e-discovery platform is operating cohesively. Our focus is creating an integrated platform that uses your technology and delivers a defensible, cost effective system that meets your organization’s needs -- anywhere, for anyone, at anytime.

PRICING: We work with each and every customer to meet their specific requirements within their budgetary constraints.
